Novelty (N)	Claims	14-17	YES
	Claims	1-13, 18-19	NO
Inventive step (IS)	Claims	14-17	YES
	Claims	1-13, 18-19	NO

	Claims		NO

2. Citations and explanations:

Document cited in the International Search Report:

D1: JP 2003062268 A

The problem to be solved by the invention is to indicate for a user of a portable electronic device with a small display screen an event taking place in an image larger than the screen and outside the view on the screen.

D1 shows a display screen on a game machine surrounded by light units. The light units are individually controlled by a light driver. The light units are said to be driven to match the display on the screen.

The display screen with surrounded light units according to D1 is not placed on a portable device, but the idea of placing light units surrounding a display screen matching the display is known from D1.

Therefore, the invention according to claims 1-13 and 18-19 is known by D1.

The invention according to claims 14-17, which seems to be the intended invention, is not known nor considered obvious for a person skilled in the art by knowing D1.

The invention according to claims 1-19 is considered to have industrial applicability.
